Monitoring financial flows for health research 2005 : behind the global numbers / Mary Anne Burke ; Andrés de Francisco (Ed.). - Geneva : Global Forum for Health Research, 2006. - 89, IV p.

ISBN: 2940286396

The earlier studies of global resource flows traced the substantial increases in health R&D investments and highlighted the mismatch between how research resources are used and the burdens of disease. This new volume of Monitoring Financial Flows for Health Research looks behind the global totals and examines several facets of the overall picture, including health research funding by low- and middle-income country governments and the private sector, as well as with the financing of research on some major neglected diseases. Includes tables and figures.

Global mobilization for HIV prevention : a blueprint for action. -

Seattle : Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, 2002. - 30 p.

The world knows much about how to prevent HIV transmission, and both developed and developing countries have demonstrated that existing prevention strategies can have a major impact. This first report of the Global HIV Prevention Working Group, convened by the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation and the Henry J. Kaiser Family Foundation, provides a road map for rapidly scaling up prevention programmes to contain and ultimately reverse the AIDS epidemic. The report reviews the scientific literature on the effectiveness of HIV prevention interventions, identifies obstacles to quickly expanding prevention programmes and makes specific recommendations to prevent millions of infections this decade.
